ALUMNI SPEAKS

Mr. Anant Sinha
Research Engineer at the Centre for Development of Telematics (C-DOT), Department of Telecommunication, Government of India in New Delhi
B. Tech (ECE), Class of 2019
Amity School of Engineering and Technology (Lucknow)

Describe your career journey and your current role.

I completed my M. Tech in Embedded Systems and VLSI from Netaji Subhas University of Technology (NSUT), New Delhi in 2022. In 2015, I made the decision to enroll at Amity University, Lucknow campus with the aspiration of pursuing a career in the field of technology. Opting for the Electronics and Communication Engineering course has proven to be one of the best choices I have made.

Describe your journey at Amity University?

The knowledge and understanding of technical concepts that I gained during my four years at Amity played a crucial role in my successful qualification for the prestigious GATE examination. The solid foundation provided by my college education proved instrumental in achieving this significant milestone. Amity University offers a wide range of opportunities for its students, and it is up to each individual to make the most of them and enhance their abilities. Personally, I have gained a great deal of confidence through the diverse platforms provided by the university. The experiences of organizing seminars, workshops, and both academic and non-academic events on campus have instilled in me valuable leadership skills that will undoubtedly benefit me throughout my life. Amity played a vital role in inspiring me to pursue higher studies in the field of electronics. The exceptional course curriculum, delivered with excellence, ignited my passion for learning. The constant supervision and guidance from project supervisors and professors further nurtured my enthusiasm for research. As a result, I had the privilege of publishing several research papers in national and international journals during my time at Amity. These publications not only showcased the quality of research conducted at the university but also provided me with valuable exposure to the broader academic community.

Ms. Dhanista Irengbam
Research Scholar
M. Sc (Immunology), Amity Institute of Virology and Immunology, Class of 2019

Describe your career journey and your current role.

I completed my M.Sc. (Immunology) from Amity Institute of Virology and Immunology.

Describe your journey at Amity University?

When I joined the department I was rather scared and wondered if that was the right choice for me to take, but to my surprise, I came in with very little interaction skills and with a lot of confusion on how to proceed further but when I met the faculty members in AIVI, a lot of my concerns were gone as they were always there for guidance in every step of the way.

Frequent presentations, mentor-mentee meetings and one to one discussions also helped the majority of my interaction skills and social anxiety to go away.

With the being said, the faculty members in AIVI is one of my life's best teachers and their empathy towards the students will never be forgotten.
